A few km from Pienza, on a hilltop, dominating the surrounding area, this beautiful farmhouse of about 280mq completely ruined that need a 360-degree restoration, with 1 hectare of land. The access to the property is made through a short gravel road among the Tuscan rolling hills, not isolated. Currently the main road is located right next to it but it would be possible to move the access road and create a nice private green courtyard in front of the house. The farmhouse certainly is a piece of history of this beautiful place and still preserves some typical features like the wooden beams, bricked arches, all built with typical stones. At the moment there are no cadastral plans therefore, in order to better understand which is the real potential and the useful volume for the restoration, a survey will be necessary.
